Fire on North Main Street.

A small fire on the roof of the house at 653 North Main street called out the auto-pumper from the Central station about 1.20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Five three-gallon tanks of chemical were used to extinguish the blaze, which did little damage. It is believed that children playing with matches started the fire.

INSURANCE COMPANIES PAY

$137,000 TO LOCAL PEOPLE.
Norwich Ranks Seventh in the State —Local Beneficiary Gets $15,533.

According to the July issue of the Insurance Press, Norwich ranked seventh among the cities of the state in order of sums distributed to beneficiaries in 1912, $137,000 being paid to beneficiaries here.
New London was fifth with $262,000.
Other Eastern Connecticut towns and amounts are: South Coventry, $76,000; Putnam, $58,000; Williamstown, $45,000; Danielson, $39,000; $13,500; North Windham $12,000; Yan-tic $10,000. Payments of $10,000 and over were made on the following policies in these places: New London, Frank L. Palmer, $1,500; name not given, $10,894; Norwich, Frank H.
Smith, $15,533; name not given, $10-103; Putnam, Josephat A. Gaucher, $14,118; South Coventry, William A.
Tracy $48,000.
Frank L. Palmer of New London, whose policy amounted to $32,500 was one of the 237 who carried policies of over $10,000, which were held during the past year. He was one of the ninety-one exceeding $50,000. The only other large policy in this vicinity was George W. Hamilton of Watch Hill, R. I. which amounted to $36,214.
According to The Press, the total amount paid in claims in the United States and Canada amounted to $499-600,000. The year 1912 was a banner year for the insurance business, four billions of new insurance being purchased by the regular companies.
About twenty-two billions were added to the insurance by the government of the army and the navy, and the companies report a very low mortality in this country for the past year.
The insurance companies of Great Britain on the other hand report heavy mortality, not only on the part of the army and navy, but on the part of civilians, and attribute this to the war and strain caused by the war.
The insurance companies of this country have not only supported the measures of the government. The life insurance agencies were instrumental in selling 700 million willars worth of the bonds of the Third Liberty loan.
The war savings society was organized by an insurance man and one company has sold 22 and one-half millions of war stamps through its agents. The service flags of the insurance companies show that thousands of their men are now in the service either in this country or at the front, while men from insurance companies are now engaged in every line of war work, including the U. S. Coast Guard, Shipping Board, Four Minute Men, Councils of Defense, etc.

TROLLEY CAR GOES DEAD,

TIES UP TRAFFIC.
Car on New London-Norwich Line
Has to Be Towed into Norwich.

The northbound car due in Franklin square at 7.45 Tuesday evening "went dead" between Norwich and Montville and had to be towed up by the car due in the square at 8.15, arriving here at 8.40. The dead car was in charge of Conductor Rivers and Motorman Rutherford. The car which gave them the helping hand was in charge of Conductor Charles Barber and Motorman Election. Conductor Rivers was breaking in a new man when the car went dead, and he received many inquiries from his fellow employees during the evening as to whether he was trying to make an undertaker or a conductor out of the man.

Doyle Child Improving.

Thomas Henry Doyle, who fell the distance of twelve feet and was seriously hurt a month ago, is somewhat improved and has returned to his home on Huntington avenue, although still under the care of a physician.
His many friends are pleased to see him about again as he was always bright and cheery among his companions. The child had a very narrow escape and his recovery at first was doubtful.

Writes of Shell-Torn France.

Henry J. Kendall has received a letter from his son, John F. Kendall, of the 102nd U. S. Infantry, A. E. F., written June 13th, and mailed June 18th:
Somewhere in France.
June 13th, 1913.
My Dear Dad: Well, dad, I thought I could drop you a line which might interest you. Dad, if only you could see some of the farms and timberland destroyed by shell fire. There is right where we are at the front thousands of acres of land just as level and fertile as can be, and grass up to our neck. It will never be of any use either for food or for anything else for years to come. It is almost leveled to the ground in places and there is some fine timber behind us which can never be used for it is full of shrapnel and shell splinters. It will never do to try and saw it. It is so full of steel. Right close to the lines a timber woods of 100 acres can be almost leveled to the ground in half a day if there is an attack on, dad. No matter how large the trees are. Some of the shells that are used are so big that two horses could not drag them. 8 or 12 of them are drawn on narrow railways. When one of them explodes it seems as if the whole earth quivers. These aren't the biggest made, either. It takes six guns to drop the smallest gun that is used at the front and they can be fired at the rate of 25 to 30 shells a minute and now I tell you the Boshe are afraid of them. When the infantry goes to the front, the artillery doesn't shoot four or five times over at the whole sky is aflame, and such a noise and rumble that a fellow forgets he ever had a home, but just feels wild and wants to get a Bosche. They haven't got much over the state army can yet and we don't intend they shall, either, dad.
Well I must close and I wish you good luck and health.
Your loving son
JOHNIE.
